

the AUCKLAND flower SHOW

Souvenir Supplement

PEOPLE'S CHOICE WINNER:

A beautifully planted exhibition garden, Wairoa – Life on the Edge, was designed by Tessa Tukaia and John Keen (Liberty Park Tree Nursery). It was finished in time for the final judging but won the People's Choice Award.

From pohutukawas to potatoes, monotone minimalist flower-filled delight, Weekend Gardener brings you the high of the inaugural Auckland Flower Show held at Alexandra Park.

NER: The Powder (right), designed by Frazer Hurst, is the only gold piece in the Coutyarde collection with this very striking, monotone, minimalist yet opulent, and striking outdoor bath featuring just two colors - black and white and a dark

EXHIBITION GARDEN SILVER

Landsend's Get Married in Pa designed by Carolyn Melling, award for this idyllic Pacific Is BEST HORTICULTURAL EXHIBIT: Vege People's Cleopatra (above), designed by Julena Moors was judged the top horticultural entry and also won Julena Moors the Joint Best Designer in Show Award (shared with Trish Waugh).

ALL THINGS EDIBLE: A Taste Of Things To Come (left), designed by Jules Moore and Cindy Nancarrow, reflected the current interest in food-producing plants. It won a Merit Award.

CONVERSATION PIECE: This carved hand (left)

UNDEELED SPLENDOUR: Lotus Enlightening (above) designed by Jules Moor and Cindy Harrow, blended vireyas, irises, maples and black mondo grass to create a planted symphony that won a Merit Award.

TRADITIONAL WITH A TWIST: KiwiGold at Tully and Gardener (above), designed by Trina Tully, won a bronze award with this prettily planted Courtyard Garden that featured dark-foliaged Hammett dahlias, weeping Acacia 'Limelight' and other plants marketed under the KiwiGold label.

SILVER AWARD WINNER: The Pink Galaxy Garden (right) in the Planted Borders, designed by Dale Lanigan, featured this striking silver sculpture nestling in bi-coloured pink dianthus.

DEFYING DROUGHT: Designer Kararaina Barrett won a bronze award in the Planted Borders for her Evolution Garden (left and inset above) which featured xerophytic and drought-tolerant plants.

SIMPLICITY AND STAKES: Watch this Splendour Ltd's entry in the Courtyard Gardens (above) designed by Matt McIsaac and Mathew Ransom, featuring simplistic plantings. It included a striking palm with red stakes and won a merit award.

OF EACH:
/Ecosmart's
g Outside The
ary (above) won
d for The Garden ing Company's ing design; a for constructy Landscape
ions and a re for Caroline
eling's design.

FTERMATH: Bronze award-winning Take It Outside's magarden (above), designed by Tim Friday and drian Fry, was a witty window on what the world ight face if we fail to act sustainably.

VING AND CONTEMPORARY: Judges designer Alex Schanzer's a silver d for his exhibition garden, ophyll (above and left). It featured ing hands of architectural succulents

RIGHT: This Takapuna Floral Art Club entry was second in the Intermediate
Section of the Designer of the Year competition
and won a bronze award for lighting.

BOTTOM: This
Kumeu Floral Art Club entry was second in the senior section of the competition
for the Designer
of the Year.

More floral art and design from the Auckland Flower Show will feature in an upcoming issue.

BEST BACKYARD: Manukau City Council's Meat & 2 Veg (above), designed by Angelique Lambermon, in association with Lynn Cairney, won the AFS 'Green' award for Best in Show and a gold award. It exploited every spare space for veggie growing and included bee hives for pollination purposes and honey.

HOT FASHION: Colourful chillies (above) filled two roles in one garden exhibit – as ornamentals and food-producing plants.

STAKE SOLUTION: Support beans (above) gets a decorative touch in Thatch Summer House Garden with traditional English style.

PEAS A PLENTY: Potted pea plants (above) in Thatch Summer House Garden evoke the "southern Kiwi" style.

COMPOST CORNER: Rhubarb loves organic matter so what better spot for it than snuggling up to the compost bins (above) in Create Your Own Eden, designed by WormsPlus, an entry that promoted recycling and food production.

VERSATILE VEGGIES: Designer Trina Tully placed vegetables in colourful containers (above) in the flower garden in the KiwiGold at Tully and Gardener courtyard garden.

